Belkin has an entire line of smarthome devices that go by the WeMo name, including a smart light switch that you can control from your smartphone, allowing you to turn on and off lights (or anything else connected to that switch) right from your smartphone. Warning: This is a project for a confident DIYer. There's no shame in getting someone else to do the actual wiring for you if you lack the skill or knowledge to do so.

How to Install and Set Up the Belkin WeMo Light Switch

I just bought three more Belkin Wemo switches for Christmas lights, which brings the total number of Wemo devices at my home to 19, including light switches. I love the fact I can control them on several different schedules, including using internet time for dusk and dawn.
